

Service

For the Son of Man did not come to be served but to serve

How do we serve?

Who do we serve?

Why do we serve?

How do we serve?

Who do we serve?

Why do we serve?

From the side of the football pitch you could hear him screaming at the 11 year old football team that he managed. His son was centre forward and his own career had not gone to plan. Although the older he became, ----- the better he was. "Get into him. Growl growl growl. Kick him you fool. Growl Growl Growl. What an idiot. Run you wimp."

He ran the team of terrified children with passion

How did he serve? Very badly

Who did he serve, Himself

Why did he serve, to fulfil his own fantasy's

The referee. Stopped the game and ran over to the manager, who was a big man. The referee was a school boy put on this game to learn the skills. The ref stood as tall as he could manage and made clear to this idiot that if he did not control himself, that he would be sent back to his car. The manager threatened the ref. Asked who he thought he was, and coloured his language with fruity vocabulary. The ref with fear in his heart but a belief in what he was doing, sent this idiot off, and pointed out that he would cancel the game if he did not go.

How did he serve? With great courage?

Who did he serve? The small children on the pitch

Why did he serve? Because of a love of the game.

The manager still swearing made his way back to his car to wait for his son. His son meanwhile received the ball in the now quiet atmosphere. From the middle of the pitch he ran forward toward goal, and was in position to score, but could see a fellow player moving in on the right. So drawing the defenders toward himself, he then served his team mate with a pass that lead to the winning goal, and all the glory.

How did he serve? With great skill

Who did he serve? The whole team

Why did he serve? Because it worked

For the Son of Man did not come to be served but to serve

How do you really serve?

Who do you really serve?

Why do you really serve?

For the Son of Man did not come to be served but to serve
